To Whom It May Concern,

We have had the pleasure of working with Gregory Goresnik and River View Construction, Inc. on the Carson Yard Small Management Project at San Quentin State Prison. Besides the logistical challenges of working in a high security environment and an aggressive construction schedule, the project became more complex from the start due to unforeseen site conditions and multiple owner changes. River View Construction took a proactive role and worked collaboratively with Vanir Construction Management and the project team to develop cost effective solutions throughout the duration of the project. Their efforts contributed in a large way towards delivering a successful project to San Quentin State Prison.

As a team member, River View Construction brought added value to the program. Because of our positive experience, we will continue to market upcoming construction projects to them and look forward to working with them again.

Sincerely,
